History

James Larrith, a rich man with connections, developed a romance with Teralla Nets. Teralla was born weak, she was warned by doctors that she would never be able to produce a child and live. James was not informed. The pair lived well till Teralla failed to properly protect her own life. She knew it would happen as she deeply loved James and wanted him to be happy. James never pushed the fact that the pair had no children. When their only son, Jacob, was born James was filled with joy. The doctor gave him the bad news with in minutes of learning of his son's birth. Teralla had died on the table delivering him. James went into a sort of emotional coma for a few years. Jacob grew to the age of 5 only knowing father as the dark man in the black suit. At 5 years old, James and Jacob were thrust into dealing with each other. James came out of his emotionless state and started caring for his son. This lasted for 12 years. Jacob was finishing off high school and looking for the future. His father wanted to give him a special gift. He approached a friend of his and purchased a clone, a very special one. He had his son observed to find out all his secret likes and dislikes. The resulting information was used to develop a clone especially designed to be a friend and confidant. The weeks that the clone was being built were interesting to say the least, Jacob decided to enter the military. James found out after the papers had been signed. Jacob had all his information and would be shipping out a week after his eighteenth birthday. James went to his connections and set up, for sizable donation, the pair's military careers. Jacob would always have his clone on every assignment. The provision to the deal was that she was able to hold her own on a ship. This sent Jacob back to the labs to add additional skills to the list, and another sizable donation. The girl was delivered with full training in the military and a full suite of other skills. The name Jacob had picked out had been Aisia, he had met a girl named Aisia and liked her name, but she on the other hand was nothing he liked. Aisia was delivered to her 'father' and sent after her 'brother'. The pair instantly hit it off and became very close friends, per her instructions. She had been assigned to the same shift as Jacob.

Trouble struck the first assignment, a routine asteroid sweep turned into a full scale pirate attack. The engine room was beaten and the crew ordered to evacuate. Aisia and Jacob were running to get into an escape pod when the first of the warning bells went off. Aisia got into the pod with a few seconds to spare. Jacob had dived for the door only to miss getting all the way in by inches. The door swept shut crushing his arm and killing him as the pod was jettisoned into space. Aisia was left alone in the pod for the next six days with only Jacob's hand gripping hers. She lost a great deal of sanity in those six days. Her mental state was repaired by a doctor in the hospital she was taken to. She later found out that her 'father' had heard that his only son was dead and lost control of his car and died. His money was taken by his company and Aisia was left with only her memories and her military career.

Skills

Physical: Aisia is programmed with a natural affinity for sports, a subject that interested Jacob. She still semi enjoys contests of skill, but has moved to watch more than participate.

Fighting: Aisia has taken the standard training regiment for the military.

Diplomacy: Aisia has a natural aptitude for dealing with problems. She usually does not interfere but lets people talk out their problems. She does know how to deal with most diplomatic situations.

Engineering: Engineering Colleges give future Tech Sentries the brains to fix even the most impossible problems. They'll study numerous different Tech Manuals on ships, parts, power armors, fighter planes and other crafts. Soldiers learn different ways to patch up or fully repair machines depending on the time given to them. Though learning what helps fix armor is just one thing they teach them. Learning how to use equipment to disassemble or even destroy other armors helps the Tech survive on the battlefield. As they learn the strong points of technology they also learn the weak points of it.

Technology Operation: Aisia is familiar with most Nepleslian computer programs and operating systems.

Maintenance and Repair: Aisia is familiar with and able to fix most problems with starship components and to an extent, systems. While not necessarily well-versed on how a part functions and the theory behind each, they will be able to keep things operating within normal parameters.

Sports Trivia: Part of her general make up was an interest in sports. She has gone out of her way to find out additional information on sporting events.
