Physical Description

Lillian is a female Pythus Separashan. Unlike her sister, Ezriel, she was born with a number of rarer traits, perhaps from recessive genes, or even gene mutations, causing her to look vastly different to her sister in many aspects. She stands at a much taller stature than her sister, at 6'7" (~2m) tall when standing. Born an albino, she has a 13'2" (~4m) long tail of white colour and speckled pattern, and much strength, as one would expect of a Pythus Separashan, and pale white skin on her human half. Matching her tail, she has long, pure snow white hair, which she keeps in a long braided style down to one side, and ice blue slitted eyes, with a voluptuous body, even despite her lack of legs.

However, the most distinct trait between her and her sister, and of hers in general, is the the fact was born with complete sets of both the male and female sex organs. To the naked eye, she appears to be female, having been born physically female, the only way one could tell she was a hermaphrodite would be to see her in the nude, where they would notice she has an extra slit for the male organs. Both sets of her sexual organs are in full working condition, and despite the abnormality, she does not suffer any major health defects from her condition, being perfectly healthy by physical standards.

Personality

Lillian loves rock and metal music, and music in general. She also loves the idea of bikes and all, and can be considered a biker, even if physically incapable of riding one. She also has a secret love of plushies.

However, she is really anything but happy, using her love and skill of music to express herself, zone out, from all the loneliness and shunning she has felt, never having felt like she fit in on Essia, due to her being born an albino and herm, as she is, having even turned this music into something of a career, to support her studies at Osman.

History

Lillian is the twin sister of Ezriel Esherara, and was born in YE 20 on the planet of Essia along with her. She is a female Pythus of the Separa'Shan, however, unlike her sister, she was born with complete sets of both the male and female sex organs of her race.

Skills Learned

Entertainment

- Lillian has a strong interest in music, and is skilled in playing guitars, drums, and singing. She particularly likes metal and rock.
- She also has a skill in belly dancing, although it is not a thing she commonly shows off. Only those closest to her might be lucky enough to see it.
- Due to her rather rare and quite unique body trait, Lillian has the capability perform some bedroom techniques most females cannot, having both male and female sexual organs, however is quite shy and inexperienced in such things.

Communications

- As a bonus of Lillian's love of music, she has learnt how to speak many common languages at least semi-fluently due to listening to many different languages in songs.
