Character Description

Appearance

- Height: 5'9
- Weight: 100lbs
- Eye color: Blue
- Hair color: midnight sky blue
- Hair style: kept short and neat
- BWH: 31B 20 21
- skin: light greenish
- extra features: eyes all one color, ridges along the sides of her head.

Personality

As an Overseer, she's strict when it comes to the rules, and she won't allow any shenanigans to happen while those under her are in the mines. She's reliable and an excellent boss but when off duty and everyone's safe away from the mines? RUN! Because Codra is the prank queen, and she will be able to dish it out worse than she'd received. But even so she's respectful.

History

Codra started life as a street kid, doing anything she could to get that money to use for later, she was able to eventually learn about robots how to fix them and she began tinker with a long dead one, and soon created a new android, a male that would come to be known as Overseer Unit 1 overtime she improved on his processer allowing him to gain sentience and he was her lifelong friend and companion.

but where they were organics and AI were frowned upon having a relationship, they couldn't show a public display of affection no matter how much they wanted to, so they had to leave soon finding their way to Osman, before leaving with the others to Sanctum where the New Dusk Conclave had been formed and they discovered that AI were treated as citizens which meant they could show as much affection as they wanted, and the two of them got jobs as eventual Overseers. There they gained money, managing mines.
