Physical Description

Personality

Alphaeus is a quiet, more reserved man. Younger, though he has seen many hardships since becoming a citizen of the NDC. This has hardened his exterior in a way, in which he usually will keep to himself. Dedicated to fighting, and Serving his newly formed country. It usually takes all if not most of his time outside of his duties. A quietly driven man with usually working on his Mecha, or spending time in its cockpit.

History

Alpheaus Nasica was born 20日 1月 YE 16 in maharombi Delsauria. Born to a wealthy Nepleslian Merchant family Alphaeus spent his early years, studying aeronautics, learning more about the trade was a familial requirement. His father forced him time and time again to learn about ships, this further pushed the young man away from ships and towards airbikes. Leading the young Alphaeus towards racing circuits. Some of which were less than legal. His Father finding out eventually led to the destruction of his airbikes, and the continued beatings from his father. When finally, on his 18th birthday in YE 34, Alphaeus took his father's custom Styrling Silver Special .45 Caliber and killed the man in his sleep. Fleeing for his life, Alphaeus snuck in a transport ship, integrating into its crew after being found by the original crew. With nowhere to go, he wandered the void until stopping in port of the NDC. Seeing a frame for the first time while it and their pilot were on patrol. Alphaeus fell in love with the idea of piloting one. Leaving his crew. He joined the Duskerian Legion as a Ghost, to learn how to pilot such a, in his mind beautiful machine. Still new. He uses his knowledge and keen sense of danger to attempt several strategies or have a proverbial "plan b".
