Physical Description

Smockstack is around 5'6", short and round, caramel skin, deep blue eyes with longish black braided hair. Various part of his flesh are replaced with flat panels of blinking lights and riveted metal, his vast rounded torso being almost entirely replaced. He usually wears almmost-black rags that he passes off as robes to cover various parts of exposed flesh. He has a unkempt black beard that stretches down to his chest easily. He speaks in a mid-range, tinny voice and smells like motor oil.

Personality

Jolly would be the best way to describe Smokestack, finding most everything funny in one way or the other. He, also being born aboard the Ichaival, has its best interests at heart and can become serious on occasion when Nightlight requires assistance. Their goal is to assist Nightlight and the rest of the crew in propagating the Collective. He has a sort of tactful way of working where he looks to be busy but is actually relaxing, in the end he always gets the job done however. Smokestack is named so due to the metallic pipe that constantly rests between his lips, smoking his homemade flameless, odorless vapor. It takes some work to anger Smokestack but when you do, you know it's gonna be bad. Smokestack is more brave than cautious, tending to opt for the direct approach before taking in many other options.

History

Created onboard by Nightlight a couple of weeks after essential repairs were completed. Travelled the stars with their Reclaimer picking up various crewmembers and helped acclimatise them to the Ichaival.
