History

Family (or Creators)

Archibald Simmons (51) - mining ship captain Dara Simmons (48) - navigator Lucius Simmons (26) - miner/technician

Pre-RP

Unlike her brother Lisa was not born in space. Her mother actually had her on Kennewes while they were on holiday. Maybe it was why she could not stay on their family ship. Her father was a captain and owner of large mining ship. It was sort of family bussiness and all of his children should continue it. For sometime it looked that Lisa would stay on the ship as her brother did. She helped around with technical stuff, fooled around on bridge and stuff like that. Maybe that is why her father was so surprised when she told him that she would like to join the navy.

Lisa always loved piloting the shuttle used on their ship and was also very good at it. So although it made her father said he could not stand in her way as she joined the navy piloting school to become fighter pilot.

It was quite new for her. She spent most of her past life ship board so getting used to be on solid land was hard enough. Luckily she was not stupid too. She was not best student but she pulled through and got to be above average. Until she made a mistake. One of the training mission she pulled a stunt that was quite dangerous and stupid. And she did not pulled it trough. It ended up with her fighter colliding with other one. She got our with her arm shattered and loosing her right ear. Another pilot lost his legs.

It was clear that she would be kicked out. But one of her instructors knew she was good in the heard and wanted to serve. He had serious talk with her in hospital telling her she won't become pilot. For now. He told her that he could talk to his friends and got her to marines. She could still serve. After giving it serious thought Lisa agreed. She wanted to serve her country.

First was getting her ear and arm fixed. Which was done be newly founded company named Axis. Lisa was actually pretty happy with it. She did not received cyber-arm but only her bones and some of the muscle tissue was replaced. Her right ear was replaced with cybernetic one.

After that it was straight to boot camp and for marine training. As always when Lisa got into something and focused on it she could do well. And she did. She was pretty good markswoman and agile fighter. She worked well in terrain. After finishing boot camp she received two weeks liberty call during which she visited her family and got her new mindware installed. Since then she is waiting for her first placement.

4th Fleet

Lisa's first assignment was a position of tech sentry in marine squad of 4th fleet. Squad's name was Volkov's Cavalier and it appeared to be quite experienced unit. Soon after arriving itno 4th fleet HQ with her papers, Lisa was sent to do some training with few other rookies. She also managed to get angry a navy caption which got her extra guard duty. Thanks to that she missed Aethersperm concert for 4th fleet members.

After that, she finally got to really meet the rest of the squad who just returned from mission somewhere in Tange system. Apparently the help evacuate a lot of civvies from there. Phaedra Volkov, the leader of the team ordered whole team for training mission. This mission was quite hard, because of the setting sarge Volkov set and the team was sent against two Render-mecha. Only Lisa and two others survived this training.

After the training Lisa started getting to know other members of the team starting with Bernhard Greer, one of the teams medics. She made him take her on a date which ended in very pleasant evening.

Right after that came first assignment and Lisa and the rest of the Cavaliers were sent to System 871 for Data retrieval mission. The mission ended up as failure. No deaths, but there were quite a few injuries and they got no data. Navy guarding the marines above the space took bad hit thought. Failure like that called for little reorganisation and all marines got new leader. Experienced chief Leon Santiago. Lisa did not like him personally and was not fond of his ways, but he seemed to be good leader.

Right of the bat, he tossed her and other into simulated combat. Lisa made some mistakes there, same as others but in the end the marines won and brought big and deadly Ravager down. She then went on fun date with Sawyer and soon after there was Ceremony where Admiral Valken got promoted. After that Lisa and Laura said their goodbyes to Bernhard who was leaving to join 1st fleet and its upcoming assault on Rok'veru.

New mission came after that. Marines were supposed to help near the Rok'Veru. 4th fleet attacked one of the NMX support fleet and marines boarded their capitol ship, planning to take their leaders prisoner. Lisa accidently took the ships bridge by herself, slaughtering the command team of the NMX ship.

After her time in 4th fleet Lisa was moved to a Blackjack Assault Cruiser. She served there for a short time, being a part of one mission against NMX and one prolonged training session where the Nepleslian Marines trained against some liberated yamataian nekovalkyrja.
