But Ah warn ye it was Mutsobuki's witchery that took me to 'er lair." He looks around manically for a moment before pointing to his own cybernetic eye. "Teh ol' hag took mah eye from me. There weren't ah thing wrong with it either. She did it all as ah example to teh marines ta keep them fools in line. Ah was only there for arterial bleedin." Old Salt finally stops pointing to his eye but swings his index finger to a box bolted to the wall. Mental Characteristics

Personality

The most hot-headed individual you'll ever know, Suku Matsobuki is a proximity bomb of fury. In most situations she is fairly un-social with people, and tends to ward them off with her small-temper. Only a few, who seem to pry past her steel exterior can really get to know the young girl inside of Suku.

People who interact, or are in relationship with Suku will find that she expresses most of her feelings through physical contact and touch. This led to most people considering her rather 'loose' in a relationship at her young age. Many of those disappointing relationships caused her to keep her distance from everyone around her.

- General Likes: Things going her way, free things, the baseline of life, winning an argument, a caring man, someone she can talk to.
- General Dislikes: Ass chasers, being used, quiet people, idiots, losing, being corrected, paperwork, vegetarians, unreasonably nice people, intellectuals, people who think without acting, wimps, nosy people, tree-huggers, and most people she doesn't know in general.

- Clothing: Suku usually wears types of thick clothing, things like sweaters and turtlenecks. Though, just about anything purple will mesh with her. She also enjoys the loose fit of slacks, but seems to dislike skirts.
- Food: Anything lean, juicy, and meaty. Suku prefers salty items, but mostly prefers some kind of meat with her meal. She lacks the sweet-tooth of most people with exception of her favorite treat: Chocolate Chip Cookie Dough Ice Cream.
- Sexuality: Heterosexual
- Tastes in Men: Since she comes from a low-income family, so her interests are not affected by job and money very much. She likes generally handsome men, from Lancelots to boyish-boys. A man has to have some kind grasp of social power to sway her, as well; Someone who is a leader, savvy, charming, or generally has an air of goodness. Most of all, he has to be able to express his desire or love to be with her in ways that are non-sexual.
- Distastes in Men: Anyone overly cyberneticized or refuses to cover their cybernetics, her man has to look Nepleslian and not somewhat like this guy. Overly smart men are also unattractive, she doesn't like to feel stupid compared to her partner. Underconfident or easily depressed people just bore her. Men who try to be with her for reasons as far as just sex will just make her angry.
- Goals: To find a better sort of living and some kind of happiness.

History

The Rage is Born

Suku was born from Nancy Matsobuki in the Nexim City. She grew up in the small city, and watched it grow into a unlivable hell-hole. Quickly in life, she became tired of Nexim City and just about anything else about Kennewes. Her family was realizing this as well, and they moved to the planet of Nepleslia. For awhile there, Suku worked as a waitress at a high-class restaurant. Until one day she completely lost it with her boss, she came in complaining that no one would tip her. The boss made the first mistake by saying she wasn't pretty enough, and it got violent from there. She quit after leaving her boss as a bruised heap on the floor.

Green All Over

After arguing with her parents and talking with her brother's about what to do, she signed in the Nepleslian Star Army. With only an interest to stay behind the lines and not get shot at, she signed for a half-term at the Medical Academy(Which would make her a nurse.) This short training allowed her to join the Nepleslian Forces quickly. Her first and current assignment is the NSS Alliance, where she serves under Chiaki Kokuten and Adrian Decane. The three of them seemed to get along well enough, Adrian was fun and seemed to understand her, and Kokuten seemed like another brother to her, giving her advice on certain situations. It wasn't until a trip to Starbase Hayes that Suku's eyes were opened up to a new person.

Rico Sanroma

In the morning of their arrival, an armored Adrian dipped into lunacy and ended up pouring Coffee all over Suku. Embarrassed, angry, and with a killing notion, she tried to rip Adrian's head off to no avail. She was unable, and in the process, ended up kicking Kokuten in the nose when he tried to subdue her. Jack Miller, the captain of the NSS Alliance ordered her off to the correctional institute, and Suku was then escorted off by Rico. Though, along the way, they began talking, and Suku began learn more about him. Eventually Rico pulled one of his fast ones and got Suku into a kiss. It had been the first time she had ever experienced such a moment. Most of her relationships before were solely sex, sex, sex. However, Suku was led into one of the most wonderful nights of her life, leaving her with feelings for the undoubtable Nepleslian player(Rico). However, the idea of a relationship between the two is unknown to them both.

Education = Money

When the Alliance split off and the crew went to future assignments, Suku left off to improve her Medical career. She decided to become more than a Nurse. So she went on to one of the Medical Academies on Nepleslia and upped her certification from Nurse, to Medical Officer. When she finally finished her classes, she was earning more money and was off to her next assignment. Shortly after, she recieved a notice from Kokuten saying that he was off from assignment. She figured it would be nice to see her friend again, but it quickly turned south when she found Rico Sanroma with him along with Fian Vel Steyr. The meeting was not meant to end well, as the furious Matsobuki got into fight with Rico. The squabble between them lasted until mid-day where Rico found his way around Suku's rage and the two of them officially parted ways.

Skills

Master

Superior

Medical

Even though she never truly expected to go down this path, Suku found herself taking courses at the Medical Academy on Nepleslia after her assignment on the Alliance. She had a strange affinity with the art of medicine, she absorbed the information and performed fairly well at her classes. Like her former superiors, Kokuten and Adrian, she learned how to operate modern medical facilities, perform surgery on and off the field, diagnose different medical conditions, and prescribe proper pharmaceuticals.

Rogue

Nexim City was never a happy place, and Suku lived through all of it during her younger years. She learned what colors what you should, and should not wear. How to properly talk your way out of a situation with a police officer, and when to use the feminine charm. If it didn't work, she could get intimidating and threaten someone. If it got violent, Suku would know how to use most of the objects lying around her as a weapon.

Major

Communication

Even though she would never mention it, Suku practiced calligraphy when she was young, finding it a beautiful art. As a result, she writes with a competent flourish. She has a clear understanding of Nepleslian Standard language (and would strike you if you questioned it). Her training in the Star Army made her familiar with radio equipment and write out the proper reports. Experience on the Alliance has allowed her to properly communicate whilst under pressure and action.

Fighting

Suku's personality gets her in trouble quite a bit, so she often experiences hand-to-hand fights with other people. The Star Army taught her the rest, and how to use guns at that. Though, with her nurse status, she only gained a small portion of the armor training.

Survival

Though not a full Marine, Suku still had to go under the Medical Corps' standard survival training program, making it so that she would have to learn how to camouflage herself, build shelters, find food, and generally survive in the wilderness.

Strategy

If there was one thing that overrides Suku's anger, it's her discipline. She's able to know when it's the time for rage and the time to follow orders. She can also capably follow those orders and carry them out efficiently. Training also gave her the ability to properly read a map and calculate distance.

Entertainment

You'll never hear it, no matter how hard you try to convince her, but Suku is an excellent singer, generally an Alto. The only problem is that she's stage-shy.

Minor

Vehicles

Suku is capable of driving standard cars along with a small familiarization with Medical APCs and heavy equipment on the ground.
