History

Hanz Tittenlieb 20 AY (father, aka "Herr Crazy") Unsuccessful businessman. Tina Tittenlieb 20 AY (mother) Programmer. Hanz Tittenlieb the second 6 AY (brother) Unsuccessful musician. Clothilde Tittenlieb 5 AY (sister) Student.

Pre-RP

Tittenlieb was born as Abwehran surfer to peculiar family who had the greatest idea of giving her really stupid first name. Soon after she was born her family moved "downstairs". Her dad had bright idea of moving his bussiness to nighwalker towns. But her dads fireworks bussiness did not ended up very successful. Afterwards he tried to break through with his invention of pet washing machine. Of course being surfer and growing up there between Nightwalker was not easy. Especially with her stupid name. She met a lot of bullying and after some time she sort of snapped and started fighting back. By the time she was on high school it was her picking on bullies. She did not protect bullied kids though, she just hated cowards picking on weaker people who could not protect themselves and gave them beatings.

After she barely passed high-school she immediately joined Abwehran military. She became trained to become part of panzer division of Chimers Landwehr. Having her mouth and attitude problem did not help during training. She was also sleeping around which was not looked very well upon. After making it though the training she ended up in "bad company" of sorts. Place where you send soldier where they can't cause so many problems. Every army has such unit after all. After years of service she became professional tank gunner but never really got into proper combat. But after all the training she was professional. Unfortunately before she should see any combat she was caught sleeping with her superior officer and dishonourably discharged. Giving Abwehr the finger she moved to Nepleslia. Where she shortly worked for one of local mobs. But finding it lacking any proper large weapons of mass destruction she was looking elsewhere. When she found up about Paragon she did not wait too long and joined up. There she ended up under tank commander by the name of Adam Foss. She and him took quickly liking to each other, which they both hide. What they don't hide is their sharing a bed pretty often.

Wespe and Foss were in Paragon for quite a bit. Fighting in Funky City, while NMX were there for a 'visit'. They saw quite a bit of combat, until Paragon fell apart. The 5th company, where Wespe and Foss left and fell apart, each going to do their own thing. Wespe and Foss were not sure what to do, so they try to sell their tank and see what comes then. Selling a tank is a tiny bit illegal even for Nepleslia and since W and F were not very good at black market stuff, they screwed it up. They tried to sell it to IPG undercover agent.

That did not go to well. Luckily instead of being locked in a ice-cube the duo was given a choice. Join the NSMC tankers or the ice-cube. The choice was fast, they will keep doing what they like, except now they won't be able to tell the guy who shouts orders off. OR WILL THEY?
