Physical Characteristics

- Height: 5'11"
- Mass: 156lb

Build and Skin Color: Whip cord thin, he looks as if he is scrawny but under his skin he is strong and healthy. He is forever-in-the-sun, deep tan on the exposed skin, under the shirt and pants he is whiter than a page of paper.

Eyes and Facial Features: His craggy features show off his long years of hard life. The flesh is the dark reddish tan of a man who worked long days under bright hot stars. Always seems to have a 5-6 day stubble growth of a beard.

Hair Color and Style: A light brown that is kept short, to just above his ears. Though in front of his ears the side burns grow a bit long.

Distinguishing Features: Scars and wrinkles and the twist of a cigar always hanging out of his frowning mouth.

Psychological Characteristics

Personality: Gruff, and short are the words to describe this self-imposed exile from society. He is kind, though he keeps a deep layer of coldness to hide it from others. He uses the fewest number of words to get his point across, not wanting wasting anything.

- Likes: Being left alone, his horse Goto, the nectar from his solar still, tobacco.
- Dislikes: People, people who come to his compound, people talking to his horse Goto. His Mule Ketsurui
- Goals: To Be left alone, and a dream of people staying off his damned lawn! Oh and a lawn for people to stay off of!

History

Family

In the deep sands of time he was born from under a dusty rock on the wrong side of a moon.

Pre-RP

His childhood is a tale of boredom. Which is why once the Third Elysian war started up, and he enlisted, he went without a single frown. It was a chance to see something more exciting. As the war waged he fought on a few battlefields and saw many horrific things. He was wounded a few times, the scars on his left leg, and chest are still there, along with the slight limp. Once the war was over and the military released him to the fates, he took his payoff and left for the stars. Hopping from one backwater claim to another, each time scraping just enough to cover costs of living, and enough squirreled away to make it to the next dust-ball, moon rock, or backwater station.
