Physical Description

Holding a rather compact frame, Kikihaba Neroka stands at exactly 5'0 (152.4 cm) tall, not counting her ears (not that amusement parks do). Her frame shows a clearly healthy a muscular posture, and very little body fat seems to adorn her person. Her skin holds a consistent pale tone, contrasted only by her stark red hair and piercing amber eyes. Her hair is often messy and just below shoulder length, not quite unkempt but there's certainly less attention to detail than the average neko. Fluffy ears of equal crimson shade sprout from her head, a very good indication of her likely explosive mood.

Her short stature and overall minimized demeanor certainly gives her a rather cute appearance, especially when she stands shoulder to shoulder with crew-members who are often several heads taller.

Her body is caked in numerous untreated scars, though few, if any, remain on parts of skin visible while in uniform. Rather than surgical scars they simply seem to be minor wounds she managed to get away with not treating long enough for her body to handle the brunt of the injuries.

Lacking a tail or any other hair other than her eyebrows and head, her seemingly soft and round face is contrasted by her angled chin, and the paleness is contrasted by the frequent flashes of red across her face for various purposes. Her voice is rather light, lacking a more matured tone common in her taller comrades, though it's still quite striking when she shouts.

Personality

Kikihaba Neroka is best described as a hot-headed brawler who expends energy like a small bomb. Quick to jump to emotional actions, she proves easy to influence to anyone who knows how her emotions work. Extremely prideful and always striving to be self-sufficient, those in higher command are warned to keep a firm and heavy hand when dealing with the girl. She despises having to rely on others for minor and 'petty' tasks, and takes offense to others preemptively giving her assistance.

Furthermore, Kikihaba Neroka's prideful, self-sufficient nature poses a consistent health risk to herself. She's been known to avoid medical help she didn't deem necessary, neglecting her own health in the process, especially in situations where her own judgement fell flat of reality.

Despite her small frame, Kikihaba Neroka is an eager fighter, skilled and eager to fight, she fashions herself in quite the odd way. While she loves to give the biggest and hardest hits possible, her actual appreciation for her squad-mates shines in conflict, as she quickly asserts herself as a shield and tank, either disrupting the flow of enemy attacks of taking the brunt of oncoming fire to prevent it from reaching others. Of course she often has to be commanded to fall back to prevent serious damage to herself.

History

Created as a standard soldier for the Yamatai, her training was soon notable due to the issues that arose. While she quickly rose to every challenge that came her way, her social abilities put a splinter in her advancement, as she proved troublesome in places that weren't direct conflict. Her fiery temper and wide range of emotions caught the attention of other soldiers, though it didn't stop her from making friends.

When paired with groups able to work past her rough exterior she fared extremely well, especially when paired with a firm leader who could assert their orders over Kikihaba. It wasn't long until she was often called the nickname 'Habanero.'

One particular event of note was a high merit given for her exemplary performance in one of the higher difficulty sparring events, which was almost immediately revoked after she later passed out after refusing to seek medical attention for the blunt blows received during the event.

In YE 45, she was reassigned to the YSS Illustrious.

Skills Learned

Fighting: Skilled and tempered in hand-to-hand fighting as well as fighting in power armor, she thrives in situations where she can dish out just as much as she takes. She's proven exceptionally skilled at disrupting the flow of her opponents when sufficiently supplied.
