Physical Characteristics

Description: Ageha appears to be a normal Yamataian female who engages in regular exercise. She is fair skinned and has light brown eyes. Hair Color and Style: Her brown hair is barely shoulder length and she wears multiple barrettes to keep her bangs from getting in her face. Distinguishing Features: Two small moles directly above and parallel to her left eyebrow.

Psychological Characteristics

Personality: Ageha constantly seeks approval from superiors and generally tries to be the model of perfection. Rarely speaks unless spoken to and is easily embarrassed when her shortcomings are pointed out.

Likes: Flying, Soft-pop music, historical films. Dislikes: Other cultures, having to explain technical material, loud music. Goals: To captain a ship someday.

History

Family: Osamu(father), Anna(mother, deceased), Jun(younger brother, deceased)

Ageha lived with her family aboard a colony ship. She was a dutiful daughter whose father doted on her constantly. Her younger brother, Jun, was born when she was five and all in all the family was fairly picture perfect for colonists. Her father, Osamu, was a cook who ran a small family restaurant. Her mother worked there, sometimes in the back helping cook, or helping to take orders when they were short-staffed. However, the happy family life did not last forever and the colony ship was attacked and destroyed by SMX forces when she was still only 13 years old. She and her father survived the attack, but unfortunately her mother and brother died in the initial assault.

After that, Osamu was not the same. The loss of his wife and son caused him to fall into a deep depression. Ageha tried to take care of her father, but eventually the money ran out. He was admitted to a mental institution and Ageha became a ward of the state where she was placed in a boarding school until she was old enough to enlist. Her choice to join the Star Army was at first born out of the fact that she felt it was expected of her, but now she feels that if she had the chance to go back she would make the same decision because now she'd like to captain a ship some day.

She kept in contact with her father and a couple of months after she enlisted, her father was released from the hospital. He found work as a short-order cook and Ageha plans to help by sending him some of the money she earns while in the Military.

Service Record

- YSS Senbu - Communications Technician
  - Her first assignment was aboard the Anri-Class Senbu.
    - Vacation in Kyoto - Ageha's first task was to accompany the much lauded Pride Squadron on a vacation in Kyoto and learn all she could about her new teammates.
    - Mission 5: Ghosts in the Husk - Ageha's first real mission on the Senbu was hectic for the young girl, but she managed to keep her squad well informed and overall performed excellently in her duties.
    - Mission 6: Ram Defense - In progress.

Skills

Communication: Ageha has taken all the requisite training courses to become familiar with all standard communication equipment and techniques and additionally is fluent in both Nepleslian and Yamataian.

Fighting: Ageha only took the bare minimum required physical education and hand-to-hand combat courses and slightly lagged behind the average grades in these areas. She received good marks in marksmanship and powered armor training.

Technology Operation: Ageha has taken all requisite training courses in the use and operation of any computer system that uses the Kessaku OS. Additionally seems to be particularly proficient in data entry and management.

Mathematics: Ageha managed to pass the basic mathematics courses which included everything up to algebra and trigonometry. She received high marks in statistics and geometry and has been noted for having an exceptional spatial sense.

Physical: Ageha keeps in good physical shape by eating healthy and by exercising daily. While in school she showed an aptitude for Volleyball, but has neglected participating in any non-mandatory sports since enlistment.

Starship Operations: Ageha has taken courses in and excelled at Starship bridge systems including Communications, Sensors, Propulsion, Navigation and Defense systems.

Science: Ageha has taken extra courses in Astrophysics to supplement her requisite training courses before enlistment.
