Physical Description

- Height: 3'11“
- Weight: 105 Lbs.
- Measurements: 24F-21-41

With her striking white hair and pinkish-tan features, Ohara Chiasa is immediately recognizable as a Nekovalkyrja of vibrant aesthetic. Accordingly, she has plump, pouty, and pink lips that match the color of her eyes. She has a diamond-shaped facial profile, with a smaller forehead, wide cheekbones, a small nose, and a pointed chin. Notably, Chiasa also possesses big, bug-like eyes. Framing her features, Chiasa most often wears her hair in an asymmetrical style, with the right side worn down and loose, while the left side has cornrow braids that merge with the right side at the back. Finally, Chiasa has long, elf-style ears.

Tiny in vertical stature, but not in build, Chiasa's zaftig hourglass form is decidedly stacked from top to bottom. Carrying much more fat in proportion to her size than the typical Nekovalkyrja, the mass in Chiasa's lower body is concentrated in her thighs, hips, and backside, with the latter swelling outward past her shoulder blades to exhibit a hefty, steatopygian state. Complementing this, Chiasa bears expansive hips which considerably widen her lower body. Shifting upward, her build tightens into a soft, supple waist which lacks visible muscle tone, though not to the point of chubbiness. Finally, Chiasa possesses a big, bosomy chest, which forms into slender shoulders and a svelte neck.

Personality

- Primal Zodiac Personality Reference: Hummingbird
- Moe Archetype: Kamidere

Although her personality is largely unformed, Ohara Chiasa possesses extremely energetic tendencies which manifest in a severe, borderline unreasonable sense of possibility. As such, she firmly believes that she can accomplish anything that she sets her mind to, no matter how grand, ambitious, or seemingly impossible in scope. Her high energy levels grant her a nigh-limitless source of motivation, which she channels to serve Yamatai and to achieve her arguably impossible goals!

As pertaining to social situations, Chiasa is effusive and loquacious. However, she is also quite vain and self-centered, making her somewhat difficult to engage with at infrequent, yet distinct intervals.

History

Created on Nataria, Ohara Chiasa was one of the many Nekovalkyja created to rebuild the ranks of the Star Army of Yamatai after the devastating Kuvexian War. Although she socialized normally, Chiasa exhibited a level of vanity that earned her few friends. Regardless, this was never made note of in any formal reports. After completing standard basic training, she undertook the program to become a Medical Specialist. Chiasa completed her occupational training with average scores relative to her Nekovalkyrja peers, though she was noted for having a poor manner when treating human patients or other personnel who have not transferred into superior bodies that align with their natural species.

Naturally, upon the completion of her medical training, Ohara Chiasa was assigned to the YSS Resurgence to serve under its human Chief Medical Officer, Chui Vec Wilson! Later on, she started training to become a Pharmacy Specialist, taking remote classes in-between shifts in order to further develop her skills.

Chiasa's first mission on the Resurgence was an expedition to a rogue machine moon. Assigned to the away team deployed to the moon's surface, she lost her leg during the initial engagement against a swarm of hostile robots, but managed to remain combat effective in spite of the injury. During the mission, Chiasa played a direct role in saving Kawa Euikoshi's life after the science specialist was torn “limb from limb” by mechanical tentacles. She also negotiated with the Rixxikor Fraxxlor, who warned the away team of various traps and explosives within the underground maze.
