Sakura is a happy go lucky, go with the flow type of woman. Though sometimes over dramatic she has a mischievous streak.Known for playing prakes this has caused her to get in trouble but she will never do one out of spite. She is also famous for a major addiction to Coffee and other caffeine related products.

History

Sakura Sjet was created on 7 9 YE 20 by the PNUgen Corporation . Initial requirements was the creation of Nekovalkyrja personal for shipboard and planetary maintenance of computer based systems.She would complete the required techical training and been assigned to the Corporation's headquarters. Doing minimal work for most of the year she would later by sold by the corporation in YE 22 to the Grand Star Army.

Quickly getting passing through both basic training as well as technician training she would be assigned to the Ketsurui Fleet Yards to work as a computer Technician as a military adviser and to help with ongoing computer developments alongside the civilian company.This had a mix effect as not would Sakura gain valuable information about shipboard computers but also gain important social skills working alongside civilian contractors. She would serve at this post till YE 30 where she would take a leave of the service.

Sakura would take her new found freedom from the military to explore more about her self and enjoy some personal time. First exploring the home world of Yamatai she would use funds she earned over the years to travel to most places on the capital. Exploring the major cities as well as exploring some of the nature reserves on the planet.

After a year exploring the home world she decided to take a teacher's position at the Kyousou Institute of Technology.There she would lecture on information and technology introductions as well as VR programming. Here she would excel in a teacher's role and was beloved by her students by her carefree attitude as well as practical jokes she would work on with her student against other teachers.Though not loved by a majority of the facility staff by her lax and sometimes unprofessional attitude, the administration enjoyed her constantly updating the campus electronic security systems.

She would stay in this position till YE 40 feeling both depressed in her current position and wish to explore the galaxy. She decided to reenlist with the Star Army of Yamatai and joined the recently created Information and Technology department. Due to the time being out of the service she would have to re-undergo training an start back at the rank of Santo Hei. Some say this is also due to several infractions against training staff, including a incident where the vr simulator would only project personal in a nude state while going through a military drill.

Completing basic she would then been assigned to the YSS Kaiyo II in order to help maintain the ships computer systems.Part of her assignment was to assist with the onboard updates from the Pantheon system as well as prep the ship for its upcoming refit. Due developments with the war with Kuvexian's this has forced Sakura to pull double shifts due to this updates from PANTHEON. This has also forced her to stay away from ship away missions in order to keep monitoring the onboard computers system and to ensure smooth operations.
