Itsuki Toushan in Roleplay

Itsuki Toushan is a non-player character played by Aendri and is currently involved with Fort Ready's sixth class.

Physical Characteristics

Height: 5'4" Mass: 89 lbs Bra Size: 30B

Build and Skin Color: Itsuki is built very slightly, with a fragile appearance, and almost childlike body size. She has pale Caucasian skin.

Facial Features and Eye Color: She has a thin, sharp face, with fine, small features. She has a small nose, framed nicely by her azure colored eyes.

Hair Color and Style: She has soft, platinum blond hair, bordering on silver. She wears it moderately long, with long bangs, which tend to drift into her face over time. She doesn't like putting her hair back, preferring to let it hang loose down her back.

Distinguishing Features: Her body itself is fairly uncommon, even in a world with nekos.

Psychological Characteristics

Personality: Itsuki is naturally quiet, but it conceals a rabid curiosity. She's very intelligent by nature, but has never been very good at making friends. However, her nearly intuitive understanding of piloting and navigation makes her a great choice for piloting, which led to her one real close friendship, with Jonathan Weber. Her natural quietness makes her a good match for him as a co-pilot. She's a shy person, even around Jon, which makes it hard to get to know her.

Likes: Books, quiet, flying, Jon. Dislikes: Loudness, closemindedness, intrusive questions (so long as they're not hers) Goals: Learn everything she can about flight and piloting.

History

Itsuki grew up on Yamatai, and had a good childhood, graduating school early, and getting into college at 16. She spent 5 years there studying astro-navigation and star charting before leaving school and starting her work. She got a job with a travel company through her parents, and promptly shocked her parents by requesting a transfer to the pilot training, rather than taking a simple desk job. She met Jon when she was 23, and they rather quickly grew close. She turned in her two weeks notice shortly thereafter when Jon mentioned he was looking for a new co-pilot, and was hired by his company after out-flying several other candidates. When Jon later took a position with Origin, and asked her to come with him, she happily agreed, feeling that their pair worked out about as well as she could hope for. When they finished a run through a Mishhu blockade, they went their separate ways for a bit, with Jon possibly retiring. However, she didn't find any good jobs that she felt bad about leaving, so when she learned that Jon had found a teaching position and recommended her as a teacher as well, She jumped at the opportunity to have a steady job with someone she knew and liked.

After doing a brief stint as a teacher at the Fort Ready, Jon decided that it was about time for him to stop dealing with all this military crap and settle down somewhere, but Itsuki just couldn't find it in herself to stop, no matter how much she cared for him. But her job teaching wasn't the same without him, so she made plans to move on after teaching one last class.
