Potassium Spike Grenade

This grenade is a improved and more anti-personnel version of the standard Needler. It hurls out 2,500 potassium needles that catch fire as they enter the body, reacting with the bodies water, the needles having a range of around 20m from the point of explosion. As such this is a horribly effective weapon against unarmored or lightly armored targets, but does not do the massive damage to property that other grenades can inflict. It is a small black sphere with a red button on the top, with the letter P stenciled onto one side. It explodes 5 seconds after the button is pressed. Price: 75 KS

Incendiary

These grenades spread a highly flammable and sticky gel in a 15m<sup>2</sup> radius, which burns on contact with air at 17,500°. It is a small black sphere with a red button on top, with the letter I stenciled onto one side. It explodes 5 seconds after the button is pressed. Price: 75 KS

Needler

When this grenade explodes it hurls out approx. 5,000 minute needles in a roughly spherical area. The needles have a range of around 35m from the point of explosion. It is a small black sphere with a red button on top, with the letter N stenciled onto one side. It explodes 5 seconds after the button is pressed. Price: 75 KS

Ricochet

When this grenade explodes it projects approx. 1,000 small metal balls in a roughly spherical area. The blast radius is around 20m<sup>2</sup>, and the balls ricochet off any objects they hit (so long as the object is sufficiently hard). It is a small black sphere with a red button on top, with the letter R stenciled onto one side. It explodes 5 seconds after the button is pressed. Price: 75 KS

High Explosive

It is a small black sphere with a red button on top, with the letters HE stenciled onto one side. It explodes 5 seconds after the button is pressed. Price: 75 KS
