

Ken-TEC

Ken-TEC is a company founded by graduate engineers and hard-working students from Kennewes University, ultimately a rather small but upstart company within the Kikyo sector founded in YE 39. Their original products were in-line with things that could help the people of Kennewes, effectively “the engineers and working class”.

About Ken-TEC

One of the youngest around, they chose deliberately to not work with other companies under the idea that their proceeds would help fund scholarships to their alma mater or slowly expand their own local production and development facilities. Quite literally creating their first main product in a garage, Ken-TEC prides itself in trying to solve the working man's problems. In the same year they made their breakthrough, their founder Ashton Acres would go out to try and elevate their company into a growing contender within the sector.

Facilities

The following are core facilities of Ken-TEC, though they likely have other smaller facilities that aren't worthy of note nearby or somewhere on Kennewes.

Ken-TEC Homestead (Kennewes)

Manager: Ashton Acres A series of warehouses acquired by Ashton around the original garage the company made its first product in. Although they aren't specialized buildings, the warehouses have been converted to have specialized jobs. Out of ten buildings, the following have been converted for specific roles.

Active Assets

Below are the various assets which, unlike facilities, are mobile or simply do not consist of traditional facilities like stations or planetary bases.

Ken-TEC Trade Fleet

Currently Assigned To: Transporting Bulk Orders From Ken-TEC Homestead A fleet formed from craft<sup>11)</sup>, explicitly intended to act as a cheaper alternative to some sizes of orders by allowing Ken-TEC to handle its own trading. The fleet is currently capable of carrying most objects between T1 and T9 and consists of:

- x4 Terrene Assault Transport - Chainguns-only variant
- x4 Zen-produced generic fighters

Structure

Currently, Ken-TEC is one singular branch and collective company. This means that while they might dabble into other technological fields, the teams and the brand will never be altered in anyway. However, key personnel exist with specialties in various fields.

Key Personnel

Ashton Acres - The head designer, engineer, and CEO of Ken-TEC, responsible for the creation of the KT-M1-1B "Warlock" Powered Armor. As the founder and an employee as much as a boss, one can often find Ashton involved in all sorts of work for the company. Yori Kataoka - A head partner and big-brain that went leagues into helping develop the KT-M1-1B "Warlock" Powered Armor and its gravity-centric technology. Works in the field, with free reign to develop her own technology while also helping oversee field tests of Ken-TEC equipment.

Products

Below, one can find the pages leading to the current equipment made/sold by Ken-TEC. Later additions and retirement of certain products will lead to the eventual creation of a Past Products section.
