Nayacesen Industrials

A Tamahagane Company

Nayacesen Industrials (NI) is a subsidiary of the Tamahagane Corporation, and is headquartered on Yamatai (Planet).

About Nayacesen Industrials

The goal of the company is to mine for resources to be sold to clients but to also develop technology that favors the industrial and mining sector, which is often overlooked during both war and peacetime. It maintains a contract to utilize the facilities of Geshrinari Shipyards for constructing both current and future starships.

NI is a not a military contractor, but rather a civilian company - even though there is likely to be a military-styled ship that may come from the companies Research and Development laboratories. The company employs a small number of people, and employment in the company requires a strict background check since the company handles important mining operations and does not want to risk operations being leaked to competitors or pirate organizations.
