

Huma Hel'te (Cutting Foam)

Huma Hel'te (Cutting Foam) is a two part compound that is used to cut through material, it came into use in 755 CY (YE 36).

About the Huma Hel'te

This compound is used often during salvage and demolition operations. It is applied in two steps. The primary element is applied to the surface to be cut. After the primary element has been applied fully, then the secondary element is applied on top of it. It takes twenty seconds for the reaction to begin. The two elements react chemically and the reaction is intense enough that it will burn or melt through most substances. Depending on the thickness of the material it may be necessary to apply the Huma Hel'te more than one time.

A single pack of Huma Hel'te can be applied to twenty feet of material.
