HS-PM2-1a - Wapoin Hapu Mâbor'a (Handheld Medical Scanner)

The earliest Wapoin Hapu Mâbor'a were developed before the Poku Saeruo Degonjo reached for the stars. Over the years, it has been improved and refined.

About the Wapoin Hapu Mâbor'a

The unit is compact version of the Wapoin Wunyasa Makoa (Medical Scanner Console). But obviously due to its size a limited capacity. It is primarily used as a diagnostic tool, and works well in that capacity. As for treatment it is best used for limited healing or triage. The unit is a staple of all medical centers and kits. It has a rechargeable power supply and is most commonly used for triage or to check a patients condition while being transported.

Appearance

The Wapoin Hapu Mâbor'a is a stretched hexagon when it stowed mode. It has two status displays near the base. A flip up panel that reveals control buttons and a display below the keyboard and 3 on the panel itself. The Wapointe Gean'te (Radiant Healing) is folded under the unit when stowed. The tip can be swapped out depending on the desired function. A panel opens on the base where the power cell is stored. The amber indicator shows the power cell status. The red indicator shows that the unit is turned on.
