

Sâbu & Fabota (Rank & Position)

This page details significant positions within the Poku Saeruo Degonjo and their title and or  Honorific. Some Poku'vonai may actually hold more than one title, the proper usage depends on the context. In addition to holding a position members of the Clan have a rank within their profession.

Fabota

A Poku'vonai's Fabota (position) is an indicator of their stature within the clan. Each Fabota has a Sâmi (title, honorific) the term that is used to denote their position. This table shows the Sâmi for each major position.

Context Examples

A seated member of the Council, Jorun Gefli, is also the Head of a House, as well as of a Family. Here are examples of when each Honorific would be used.

- When at the Council, or discussing matters regarding the Council he would be referred to as: Jael-Ta'a Gefli.
- When representing the Ruoka (House) at a function, or addressing the families within the House he would be referred to as: Ruoka-Ta'a Gefli

- When representing the Punla (Family) at a function he would be referred to as: Punla-Ta'a Gefli

Note: It is always acceptable to refer to a person by a higher 🌐 Honorific if they have one.

Sâbu

A Poku'vonai holds a specific Sâbu (rank) within their Jaeli (Sects). All Jaeli (Sects) use the same ranking system so that members of other Jaeli (Sects) can easily identify the rank of others. There are two forms of identification for an individual's rank a symbol and a colored cord. The symbol is a number of stylized daggers. The ranks signify not only the skill level of the individual but also the level of responsibility the person carries. Each rank is paid a Kâbolelpa weekly.

Rank	Symbol	Cord	Term	Definition	Material
10		Black	Jael-Ta'a	Speaker for the Sect	Gold
