

Iromakuanhe Needed Technology Guide

A list of wanted submissions for the Iromakuanhe.

Submission Rules

In general, Iromakuanhe technology is sleek, organic and comfortable. Because of their contented, leisurely lives and aesthetic preferences, most Iromakuanhe vessels are smooth and organic pieces of art that combine art deco and the natural forms of the desert and sea, punctuated by glowing blue channels and beam weapon recesses. For the most part, their designs lack the kind of rough-hewn utilitarianism common to other nations, due to the nature of their technology and a lessened need for heavily modularized mass produced war machines.

For military starships, the use of Organoid-type Substructure is a must, as is the usage of common technologies of Solan Starworks. The current preference is one that uses lasers and accurate tertiary and secondary batteries and as point defense weapons, while spinal or turreted particle beam weapons are used to strike the enemy once they are in range. Armor is typically lighter than most, so most designs have a heavy reliance on mobility and misdirection.

- It must specifically conform to the Viable Industry Act.
- It must generally utilize the technologies available to the Iromakuanhe, though justifiable offshoots are acceptable.
- If you have to think about whether or not it's big enough to ask Exhack about it, just ask him.
