Resistor Barrier Shield

An extension of the static field property of Aerudirn and similar organic armors, the Resistor Barrier Shield is a conformal electromagnetic and electrostatic field that offers protection when Space Compression shields are unavailable or offline. As those systems are restricted technology, the Resistor Barrier is one of the more commonly found shield devices in the Iromakuanhe Astral Commonwealth, and is typically found on anything ranging from shipyards to personal body armor.

The Resistor projects a conformal combined EM/ES field around the unit, enforcing the surface tension of the armor it protects, preventing weapons penetration, partially or totally vaporizing solid munitions and preventing a respectable amount of damage from coherent and irradiating electromagnetic weapons.
