Anti-FTL Field

An anti-FTL field (sometimes called an interdiction field by Nepleslian) is a subspace interference field and/or gravity pull that interferes with the generation of hyperspace fold points, thus making Hyperspace Travel and other forms of FTL travel more difficult or impossible.

In the Star Army Role-Play, AF fields can be created by space stations, planetary installations, or by starships. For game purposes, all AF fields are equal in strength. The reason for this is to prevent competition and arguments in this area. Anti-FTL fields affect all ships in the area, including the one projecting the field.

Due to recent advancements in FTL technology, Anti-FTL fields (otherwise known as interdiction) no longer influence FTL Drives. Direct graviton beam projections however, continue to do so.

The chart below outlines the strength of Anti-FTL fields:

Level	Type	Distortion Drive	Hyperspace Drive	Teleportation	Wormhole
Normal FTL Conditions
0	Open Space	Normal	Normal	Normal	Normal
1	In a star system	75% speed	2% speed	Normal	Normal
2	Planetary Orbit	50% speed	Disabled	Normal	Disabled
Hazardous FTL Conditions
3	Inside nebula or debris field	25% speed	Disabled	Normal	Disabled
4	Artificial Anti-FTL Field	Disabled	Disabled	Disabled	Disabled
5	FTL Deadzone	Disabled	Disabled	Disabled	Disabled

Countermeasures

Many military ships have countermeasures of some sorts to restore some FTL ability. Using this ability allows a ship to behave as if was in the next lowest level of anti-FTL; however, these systems can only be used at levels 3 and above.

Anti-FTL	AF Countermeasures	Result
Ship versus its environment
Level 3	any number of ships	Level 2 Anti-FTL
When ships face off
1 ship	None	Level 4 Anti-FTL
1 ship	1 ship	Level 3 Anti-FTL
2+ ships	1 ship	Level 4 Anti-FTL
1 ship	2+ ships	Level 3 Anti-FTL

Anti-FTL	AF Countermeasures	Result
many ships	smaller number of ships	Level 4 Anti-FTL
many of ships	even more ships	Level 3 Anti-FTL
