

NH-29 Physical Characteristics

The NH-29 Nekovalkyrja are a species of bio-synthetic humanoid life forms whom default to the appearance of slender human females with distinctive cat-like ears in place of where a human's ears would normally be located. Their DNA conception is patterned of 52 chromosomes and built on the subatomic scale by nano-machines. Most 'created' (first-generation) NH-29 Nekoalkyrja have a genetic tattoo imprinted on their left lower back imprinted with their manufacturer information and serial number.

Head: They have sharp featured faces with angled chins due to a different dentition : NH-29s only have two incisors between their canine teeth, making their mouth narrower than a human's. NH-29 Nekoalkyrja also have smooth skin which lacks the oily quality of humans. They have little pelage, the only signs of body hair being the down on their crotch (if any), their eyebrows and generally straight, long hair.

Body: The average NH-29 is a slender, well-formed piece of artwork made much like an attractive human female, with shoulders slightly more narrow than hips, usually small breasts along with the usual orifices a human woman would have. Because their body mass and composition are carefully controlled by internal metabolism and conversion methods, she cannot be obese and should have her body proportions be constant for most of her adult life. They look a bit diminutive compared to most humans, standing around 145cm (4' 9") to 170cm (5' 6") tall. An average NH-29 Nekoalkyrja is 160cm (5' 3") tall and weighs around 45kg (99lbs). This, however, makes them just the right size to pilot Type-29 Power Armors via SPINE Interface at the small of their backs. Whether or not they are born artificially from another NH-29's womb, they have bellybuttons.

Their limbs are slightly elongated compared to a human, to the end of which they have a three-fingered (plus a thumb) hands and four-toes feet that lack fingernails/toenails. The fingertips have a somewhat tacky feel to them (the stickiness helps Nekos pick up things more easily). Nekos have a graceful walk, having a tendency to prance around with their weight centered at the front of their feet, near their toes.
