

Red Tessen

The Red Tessen is a military award of the Star Army of Yamatai.

History

The Red Tessen was introduced in YE 30. Prior to its introduction alongside the Order Of The Blazing Sun, the Star Army lacked any awards for valor in combat. Although the Red Tessen is a lesser award to the Order of the Blazing Sun, which has far more stringent standards, its recipients are nonetheless highly notable for their heroic service to the Yamatai Star Empire and are counted as members of an exclusive fellowship of soldiers whose mettle has been proven in the toughest combat situations.

Each soldier granted the Red Tessen is presented with a red colored 🏯 war fan as a memento of their courage.

It was first awarded¹⁾ to three crewmembers of the YSS Senbu — Inoue Rina,²⁾ Hirado Fusae, and Yamada Chiyoko — in YE 30 for their efforts in defending the ship's bridge from a Mishhuvurthyar incursion. Following the end of the First Mishhuvurthyar War and evacuation of Mishhuvurthyar forces from the Kikyo Sector and end of YE 30, it was not awarded again until the Second Mishhuvurthyar War.

That subsequent conflict brought with it more opportunities for soldiers to earn the Red Tessen, and it began to be more widely awarded during the Second Mishhuvurthyar War. After the Battle of Yamatai in YE 33, several crewmembers serving aboard the YSS Miharu received the award.³⁾ Among several others, Miharu Rin, Gunshin Kyoufuu, and Sanjuro Ashitaka received the Red Tessen. The Miharu's security chief, Kurohoshi Masako, was awarded with two citations of the accolade.

Red Tessens continued to be given to brave warriors through the interwar years. Notably, the YSS Kaiyō's Meissa Nashira obtained the Red Tessen for her actions against Mishhuvurthyar invaders who'd infiltrated the ship.⁴⁾

The Kuvexian War saw more Star Army soldiers being awarded the Red Tessen than had occurred in previous conflicts, with a high concentration of such awards occurring as a result of the Battle Of Glimmergold. Ketsurui Aiko and Wulf Soban of the YSS Kaiyō II were each given a Red Tessen for their conspicuous gallantry in battle. Additionally, Mikael Harris alongside Hiroki Shibuya from Giretsu Century of the 75th Legion also received the award. Aoba Akasa killed 19 enemy soldiers in power armor in combat, leading Taisho Ketsurui Yui to give her a Red Tessen. Earlier in the war, soldiers present at the Fall Of Himiko during the Kuvexian Invasion of YE 41 — including Shinomori Matsuvo and Mizumitsu Hiroshiko — participated in actions that merited a Red Tessen.

Another period of peace following the Kuvexian War caused a slowdown in the frequency at which the Red Tessen was awarded. However, Ohara Chiasa and Sanda Hoshi of the YSS Resurgence were each given a Red Tessen for their efforts that occurred in the course of humanitarian operations on Gashmere and heavy fighting sparked by rebel partisans in the Kodian Civil War.

Examples

In roleplay, the Red Tessen is given for heroic deeds performed by characters in combat. To draw real world comparisons, it is roughly equivalent to the American military Distinguished Service Cross⁵⁾ combined with the Silver Star. Unlike is the case with the Order Of The Blazing Sun, the odds against which the awarded soldier fights are not relevant, nor is the the scope of impact associated with their actions.

Previous citations of this award have included:

- Displays of insane courage against enemies of the Star Empire (i.e. writing a particularly inspiring action in combat)
- Being responsible for courageously saving one's own ship while it is engaged in combat
- Singlehandedly killing or incapacitating multiple enemy combatants during a single battle (extreme combat proficiency)
- Diverting an enemy force's attention to the benefit of allied operations

[Open RP] Seizing the Opportunity (Kuvexian War Final Battle/Battle of Glimmergold)

Willing his battered body to stand, Wulf charged despite his body's protest. Letting out a battle cry like those spoken in ancient times the monster he faced finally regained its composure at the renewed threat... The Ranger stabbed wildly almost like a wounded beast of his namesake... As Wulf used his legs to hold on to the creature he started to frantically stab with both daggers. Hydraulic fuel and blood erupted as the Kuvexian beast screamed in pain. Wulf couldn't relent though, he had to live, he had to make it. Each stab and strike frantically chipping away at the creature throat. Then it dropped to its back and its head rolled out onto the floor. The Wolf had really taken its throat.

Description

The medal ribbon is mostly dark red. It has a bright red stripe down the middle and triangular areas of bright red on each side with one side of the triangles touching the edges.

The tessen war fan they receive upon citation of the award is color matched to the ribbon. Its spokes are made from Durandium Alloy coated with darker crimson lacquer finish, while the fan's leaves are a brighter scarlet red. A stencil of the Star Army Hinomaru is emblazoned on the fan's leaves in the same crimson color as its spokes.

A ribbon is worn on the Type 35 Class A formal uniform. Bearers of the Red Tessen are additionally authorized to carry the war fan itself tucked into their uniform's belt on the right side, at an approximately 45 degree angle with its lower tip pointing toward their hip, three inches to the left of their belt buckle with both ends of the folded fan emerging equidistantly from the top and bottom edges of their belt.

The Taisa stepped forward and affixed the ribbon on each of the three in humble ceremony to their great deeds, as well as handed them each a red war fan which was the award's true form.
