Design

These seamless tights feature an elasticized waistband. They are extremely tear-resistant due to their advanced fabrics, which are essentially a futuristic nylon/spandex blended fabric mesh. Since YE 38 the tights are also impregnated with Kinugoshi-ko, a high-strength artificial silk.

In YE 38, “tabi tights” with a separation between the big toe and the other toes were introduced for wear with Star Army Jika-Tabi, Type 38. These are designated as Type 38 while the original design is called the Type 21. There is also an upper-body version of the tights that is used with the bodysuit. It is essentially a long-sleeve shirt made of the same material.

Colors

These tights come in solid, opaque Cadet Blue, for use with all Star Army Duty Uniforms and Star Army

There is also a black version of these tights that was sometimes used for funerals in combination with the black Star Army Coat, Type 32. It is an atypical look that is not covered in the normal regulations, but is nevertheless condoned by some Star Army units because it is good at conveying mourning.

Sizing

The tights are elastic so the standard size fits most Nekovalkyrja or humans. Additional sizes are available for mini Nekovalkyjra and other species.

Proper Wear & Care

The tights should be worn with the waistband pulled up to the waist, and not rolled. Wear the correct side outward.

The soldier's name should be written on the tag.

In certain hot weather conditions, the uniform code can be relaxed to allow bare legs.

These tights are machine washable.
